

M.J Marketing – Michael Pantelidis – Blind Entrepreneur, Melbourne Australia

About 18 years ago I first started in business but I had a lot of trouble finding an accounting package that was accessible.

I got my accountant to go looking for something for me to use. We tried other products, but the companies would not play ball and they were very difficult to use.

In 2000 the accountant found CashManager, and it was an instant success and I didn't have any problems (compared to what I had before). Therefore I purchased CashManager and decided not to update to any newer versions. I called Accomplish to rejoin support in November 2009 and was advised that there had made some enhancements made to help users of screen readers.

When I updated to the latest version, I was very, very impressed with what had been done, and pleased with the company's commitment to my marketplace.

They have now given me 100% independence in my business and personal life with this product and I thanked Accomplish for taking the time to do what they have done.
